

Wednesday 4th January 2017

WALT Recount an extreme experience.

Millie - I am overjoyed with this wonderful writing! Such unusual similes and vivid descriptions. 1hp
★

It was on a bright, sunny day with the balmy warmth beneath me. I was on a salty, ragged cliff that was rotting my feet. I must <sup>have</sup> picked the perfect time to go because, it wasn't too hot, and wasn't too cold and it was just past noon. ✓

Did I dare to jump off that dingy, shingly cliff? ✓
I quickly ran to the other end of the cliff nervously asking myself, "shall I do this?" and at the same time I was asking myself to do it: "Wait for me!" I yelled back at my partner, but it was too late, she had already leapt into the bright, blue ocean. ✓

"Dare I jump?" I kept asking myself. I took a big step back, and then forward to the cliff's edge.

by.....millie.....

Wednesday 4th January 2017

WALT Recount an extreme experience.

As I horrendously jumped, my heart hammered like soldiers in a battle marching away to defeat their <sup>wow!</sup> enemies! I wanted to swim my way back out through the air but I remembered my friends telling me that I had to push on and have fun. I was left down from the cliff rock, and with all of the breeze was making me feel like I was going up and down like a yo-yo. The ~~temperature~~ temperature was baking degrees!

The sea was a wave eating monster that ate everything that fell down! "It was an astonishing experience! The best day of my life! The jump was ~~immediate~~ <sup>immediate</sup> and I highly recommend everybody to try it."

by.....millie.....