WALT Recount an extreme experience.

It was 2 in the morning when I skydived, as I looked down into the bright, blue sea, I knew I was ready to plunge into the ocean. I made my <sup>decision.</sup> ~~decision~~ I started ~~moving~~ ~~moving~~ I was a skydiving in a sunny beach in Spain.

Rapidly, I ran into the <sup>edge of the</sup> cliff side and nervously I flung myself into the ocean like an arrow but Remi <sup>who was impatient,</sup> ~~ment~~ ~~before~~ me, I asked him "Hay ~~wait~~ wait for me" as he started ~~jumping~~ <sup>jumped</sup> ~~to~~ the cliff, I dived into the <sup>sea</sup> ~~ocean~~ and I said, "let me catch up ~~with~~ with you." "Pull your cord" I said. He pulled his cord and it worked, I hoped that mine will work or will it.

My cord didn't work NO! It's not opening! Aah! oh no! I shouted.

WALT Recount an extreme experience.

'Pull your emergency parachute', Remi said 'where is it',
I said, 'it's on your left', he said so I pulled it and it worked, I so relaxed. ~~and I was so~~ When I landed
I said, 'That was the most scariest experience in my life.'
